

QAS – Occupational health and safety for staff leasing

QAS, the industry solution for occupational health and safety, is specifically tailored to cater for staff leasing. By accessing this industry solution and applying the safety system, staffing companies can improve the safety of all employees, both permanent and temporary. An industry solution also demonstrably leads to a decrease in the numbers of accidents and lost working days, which has a positive impact on premiums. At the same time, staffing companies are best prepared for any inspection conducted by the Suva, the Swiss National Accident Insurance Fund. By using QAS, staffing companies will meet the requirements set out in FCOS guideline no. 6508.

Practical and digital

- Complete safety system for staffing companies as per the ASA concept
- Handbook featuring practical templates, checklists and tools; with step-by-step instructions on implementation in each section
- Digital system and mobile access via 'safely' software, structured around the ASA concept and easy to use
- Free specialist advice regarding occupational health and safety
- Annual campaigns to be implemented directly in your business
- Training by role (CEO, safety officer, HR consultant) with annual updates (safety officer training is compulsory)
- Annual exchange of experience between safety officers at the experience day, examining current topics and solutions with experts

Compliant with the law

- Meets the criteria set out in FCOS guideline no. 6508
- Automatic updates for documents and information in line with legislative changes
- Information sheet containing legal articles on rights and obligations
- Optimized template leasing contract

Other benefits

- Support provided via News section in the system as well as informative newsletters
- Statistics relevant to the industry on occupational health and safety
- Integrated collective risk assessment, as stipulated by the FCOS
- Staffing companies benefit from the know-how from the ASA pools as well as QAS advice and audits
- Individual ASA involvement is also possible

Training and prices

To ensure the QAS industry solution and occupational health and safety are sustainable and implemented in the long term, we have a number of tailored training sessions for QAS-members. The starting price includes safety officer and CEO training. The training sessions are advertised online and can be booked on an individual basis. Depending on the size of the company in question, it is recommended that you book additional safety officer training sessions. The HR consultant courses are recommended, whatever the size of the company.

	Additional safety officer course	Additional CEO course	HR consultant course
